Investment Objective and Strategy

The fundamental investment objective of First Trust Value Line® Dividend Index ETF (CAD-Hedged) (the “First Trust ETF”) is to replicate, to the extent possible, the performance of the Value Line® Dividend Index (the “Index”) on a currency hedged basis, net of expenses.

The investment strategy of the First Trust ETF is to invest in and hold a proportionate share of the constituent securities of the Index, or other securities, to seek to replicate the performance of such Index. The First Trust ETF may also hold cash and cash equivalents or other money market instruments to fund current liabilities.

The First Trust ETF may also obtain exposure to the Index by holding securities of a U.S.-listed index ETF of an affiliate of the Manager, First Trust Value Line® Dividend Index Fund, which replicates or substantially replicates the performance of the Index.

The Index is a modified equal-dollar weighted index comprised of U.S. exchange-listed securities of companies that pay above-average dividends and have potential for capital appreciation. The Index begins with the universe of U.S. stocks, excluding all registered investment companies, limited partnerships and foreign securities not listed in the U.S., that Value Line® gives a Safety™ Ranking of #1 or #2 using the Value Line® Safety™ Ranking System. The Safety™ ranking measures the total risk of a stock relative to the other stocks in the Value Line® universe. From those stocks, Value Line® selects those companies with a higher dividend yield as compared to the indicated dividend yield of the Standard & Poor’s 500 Composite Stock Price Index. Value Line® then eliminates those companies with an equity market capitalization of less than US$1 billion. The Index is equally weighted and rebalanced on a monthly basis. The Index’s monthly rebalance and reconstitution schedule may cause the First Trust ETF to experience a higher rate of portfolio turnover.

Risk

The Index the First Trust ETF tracks utilizes a rules-based stock selection process and can result in sector weightings that differ from the primary and secondary benchmarks, S&P 500® Index (CAD-Hedged) total return and Dow Jones U.S. Select Dividend Index Return (USD), respectively. The ability of the underlying securities to pay a dividend in the future is dependent on factors that are not controlled by fund management. A security held in the First Trust ETF may, at any time, decide to cut or eliminate its dividend payment. Given the First Trust ETF employs a currency hedging strategy to minimize the impact of changes in the USD-CAD exchange rate and considering that the portfolio remains consistent in its application of the Value Line® stock selection methodology to pick stocks for the portfolio, we conclude there was no material change to the risk profile of the First Trust ETF. Investors should refer to the most recent prospectus as it contains detailed discussion of risk relating to the investment of the First Trust ETF.

First Trust Value Line® Dividend Index ETF (CAD-Hedged)

Management Report of Fund Performance

For the year ended December 31, 2024

The First Trust ETF underperformed the primary benchmark during the year. Technology stocks in the portfolio were underweight and led to negative relative returns as the Information Technology sector contributed significantly to the benchmark's return. Utilities and Industrials were also overweight versus the benchmark, causing relative underperformance during the year. Selection in both the Utilities and Industrials sectors also detracted from relative performance against the primary benchmark. Selection in Energy companies added to relative performance as the portfolio's holdings outperformed the benchmark holdings. Financials holdings in the portfolio were the best contributors to total return on an absolute basis. However, the portfolio was close to equal weight with the benchmark, resulting in minimal relative outperformance. The First Trust ETF was able to mitigate some of the relative underperformance versus the benchmark by remaining underweight some of the lagging sectors in the primary benchmark.

The top five stocks by contribution to return were Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Co., Ltd. Sponsored ADR, DT Midstream, Inc., Garmin Ltd., Erie Indemnity Company Class A, and Cal-Maine Foods, Inc. The bottom five stocks by contribution to return were Middlesex Water Company, Brown-Forman Corporation Class B, Huntington Ingalls Industries, Inc., Rogers Communications Inc. Class B and, Archer-Daniels-Midland Company.

The portfolio held 162 equity securities on December 31, 2023, 203 equity securities on June 30, 2024, and 221 equity securities as of December 31, 2024. The top ten equity holdings accounted for 4.76% of the total NAV. Utilities, Industrials, and Consumer Staples were the top three sector weightings at the beginning of the year. On December 31, 2024, the top three sector weights were Utilities, Industrials, and Consumer Staples. Relative to the benchmark, the most overweight sectors at the end of the year were Utilities, Consumer Staples, and Industrials. The most underweight sectors versus the benchmark at the end of the year were Information Technology, Communication Services, and Consumer Discretionary. At the beginning of the year, the most overweight sectors were Utilities, Industrials, and Consumer Staples. The most underweight sectors at the beginning of the year were Information Technology, Communication Services, and Consumer Discretionary. The First Trust ETF maintains a focus on large-cap dividend-paying equities.

During the year, the currency hedge was not beneficial to the First Trust ETF as the U.S. dollar appreciated versus the Canadian dollar.

Recent Developments

Large-cap stocks, particularly mega-caps, fueled the S&P 500® Index's impressive performance in 2024. The top ten holdings by market capitalization have delivered a whopping 57% average return, contributing more than 60% of the index's overall gains. After waiting out the data into September, the Federal Reserve ("Fed") made its first of three rate cuts through the end of the year. The policymakers have slowed the pace of the expected cuts during the fourth quarter, sending yields close to highs observed back in April. The Fed is closely monitoring inflation and employment data to determine the need for interest rate cuts in 2025. On the factor front, dividend yield and low volatility strategies underperformed during the year. The First Trust ETF, which tracks the Index, is directly exposed to these lagging factors.

(1) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses for the stated period/year and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the year.

(2) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the year.

(3) The First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the First Trust ETF's Portfolio Advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the First Trust ETF buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher a First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading cost payable by the First Trust ETF in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between high turnover rate and the performance of a First Trust ETF.
