Investment Objective and Strategy

The fundamental investment objective of the First Trust ETF is to replicate, to the extent possible, the performance of the NASDAQ Global Risk Managed Income IndexSM (the "Index"), net of expenses.

The investment strategy of the First Trust ETF is to invest in and hold the constituent securities of the Index in the same proportion as they are reflected in the Index or securities intended to replicate the performance of such Index. The First Trust ETF may also hold cash and cash equivalents or other money market instruments to fund current liabilities.

The Index seeks to provide exposure to a risk managed, globally diversified income portfolio which generates a high yield for the risk taken and consists of liquid, income-bearing ETFs and other exchange traded products across various asset classes.

The Manager may use a sampling methodology in selecting investments for the First Trust ETF. As an alternative or in conjunction with investing in and holding constituent securities, the First Trust ETF may also invest in other securities to obtain exposure to the constituent securities of the applicable Index in a manner that is consistent with the investment objective and investment strategy of the First Trust ETF.

Risk

The risks associated with an investment in the First Trust ETF remain as discussed in the First Trust ETF's most recent prospectus. There have been no significant changes during the reporting year that affected the overall level of risk associated with the First Trust ETF.

Results of Operations

General

The First Trust ETF's total net asset value as of June 30, 2024, was $15,070,454 or $16.73 per unit. The First Trust ETF's total net asset value as of December 31, 2023, was $16,469,377 or $16.46 per unit.

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2024, the First Trust ETF paid total cash distributions of $0.3000 per unit. In addition, the First Trust ETF declared cash distributions of $0.0500 per unit for record date of June 28, 2024, with payment date of July 8, 2024.

Investment Performance

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2024, the First Trust ETF returned 3.51% compared to the Index return of 3.83%. Unlike the Index, the First Trust ETF's returns are net of fees and expenses.

The return was positive for the first half of the year. Performance for the First Trust ETF exhibited a mostly positive trend. During the first quarter, performance was positive across all three months. Performance was more mixed in the second quarter, with a loss in April, a gain in May, and nearly unchanged in June.

The First Trust ETF began 2024 with a 24% exposure to equity and ended the first half of the year at 24%. This equity exposure is unique to the Index and differentiates the First Trust ETF from a more typical bond fund. In the chart below, we can see that the relative strength of equities (using the SPY ETF as a proxy) versus government bonds (using the TLT ETF as a proxy) was positive for much of the first half of the year, with a stalling out in June. The first five months of 2024 accounted for most of the First Trust ETF performance divergence from a more standard Bond fund. This equity exposure can also provide benefits, as we can see from the differentiated returns in the monthly return chart.

Rate: a fixed income product that is dominated by the government bond holdings

Credit: corporate bond focused that are usually for those rated as investment graded

HY: High Yield (junk) bonds, which also include preferred and emerging market bonds.

The security weights of the First Trust ETF are determined by Newfound Research using their proprietary model. Index Securities with a higher yield-to-risk profile and positive price momentum are weighted more heavily within the Index. Over this year, the model only added marginal exposure to High Yield vs Credit (investment grade corporate bonds).

As of June 30, 2024, the First Trust ETF held 76% in fixed income, unchanged since year-end 2023, with equity exposure also unchanged at 24%.

The First Trust ETF portfolio did not experience large changes to its allocations across credit categories during the year. High Yield bonds increased by 1%, with investment grade corporate bonds (“Credit”) decreasing by 1%.

There were no material changes across Geographies.

On the individual security level, the iShares S&P/TSX Canadian Preferred Share Index ETF had the largest increase, rising from 13.23% to 14.32% over the course of the year. The largest reduction in weight was for the BMO High Yield US Corporate Bond Hedged To CAD ETF, which was reduced by 0.62%.

Recent Developments

After peaking in late 2022, measures of inflation such as the U.S. Consumer Price Index flattened and started to drift downward throughout much of 2023. Despite a temporary uptick at the beginning of 2024, the CPI year over year change (YoY) cooled back down to 3% in June 2024, with the core CPI even falling below 3%. With inflation continuing to fall, market participants expect that the Fed is done hiking and may start cutting rates as soon as September of 2024. The U.S. and Canadian 10-Year Government bonds saw rates mostly rise in the first half of the year, ending up 50 and 40 basis points higher, respectively, vs. where they started the year.

These factors appear to have contributed to market enthusiasm and spurred a return to bull market conditions for equities. Investors increasingly expect that there will not be a recession, and many expect the Fed to start cutting rates in the second half of 2024, which should stimulate asset prices. If this is the case, the Index can maintain a healthy allocation to equities while attempting to generate balanced income for long-term investors. If a recession does occur, then the Index can rotate into assets with lower risk to attempt to cushion the losses from a bear market.

(1) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period/year, including the First Trust ETF's proportionate share of the MER of any underlying fund in which the First Trust ETF has invested, and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period/year.

(2) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period/year. This includes the First Trust ETF's proportionate share of the commissions of any underlying fund in which the First Trust ETF has invested.

(3) The First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the First Trust ETF's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the First Trust ETF buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period/year. The higher a First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate in a period/year, the greater the trading cost payable by the First Trust ETF in the period/year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period/year. There is not necessarily a relationship between high turnover rate and the performance of a First Trust ETF.

Management Fees

The First Trust ETF will pay the Manager a management fee of 0.60% based on the average daily NAV of the First Trust ETF. The management fee, plus applicable taxes including HST, will be accrued daily and paid monthly in arrears. The Manager may, from time to time in its discretion, waive all or a portion of the management fee charged at any given time.

The First Trust ETF currently pays the Manager a management fee equal to 0.41%.
