Investment Objective and Strategy

The fundamental investment objective of First Trust Vest Fund of Buffer ETFs (Canada) ETF (the "First Trust ETF") is to provide the holders of Units ("Unitholders") with capital appreciation and exposure to U.S. large capitalization companies included in the S&P 500® Index through investment in an equally weighted portfolio of First Trust Vest Funds (as defined herein) which are equity buffer ETFs.

To achieve its investment objectives, The First Trust ETF will invest in an equally weighted portfolio of First Trust Vest Funds (initially, First Trust Vest U.S. Equity Buffer ETF – August, First Trust Vest U.S. Equity Buffer ETF – November, First Trust Vest U.S. Equity Buffer ETF – February and First Trust Vest U.S. Equity Buffer ETF – May).

Under normal market conditions each of these four ETF holdings invest substantially all of its assets in FLEXible EXchange® Options ("FLEX Options") that reference the price return of the SPDR® S&P 500® ETF Trust, "SPY." The investment objective of SPY is to seek to provide investment results that, before expenses, correspond generally to the price and yield performance of the S&P 500® Index. FLEX Options are customized equity and/or index option contracts that trade on an exchange but provide investors with the ability to customize key contract terms like exercise prices, styles and expiration dates.

Risk

The risks associated with an investment in the First Trust ETF remain as discussed in the First Trust ETF's most recent prospectus. There have been no significant changes during the year that affected the overall level of risk associated with the First Trust ETF.

Results of Operations

General

The First Trust ETF's net asset value as of December 31, 2024, was $18,878,423 or $25.17 per unit. The First Trust ETF's net asset value as of December 31, 2023, was $6,631,952 or $22.11 per unit.

The First Trust ETF made a notional distribution per unit of $0.3020 for the year ended December 31, 2024. This amount was reinvested in the First Trust ETF and not paid in cash to unitholders.

Investment Performance

For the year ended December 31, 2024, the First Trust ETF returned 13.86% compared to S&P 500® CAD-Hedged Index (the "benchmark") total return of 22.08%. Unlike the benchmark, the First Trust ETF's return is net of fees and expenses.

The First Trust ETF holds First Trust Vest Funds (initially, First Trust Vest U.S. Equity Buffer ETF – August, First Trust Vest U.S. Equity Buffer ETF – November, First Trust Vest U.S. Equity Buffer ETF – February and First Trust Vest U.S. Equity Buffer ETF – May). Each of these four underlying ETFs holds a combination of FLEX options on an ETF (ticker: SPY) that tracks the S&P 500® Index, as well as a currency forward position. The currency forward is short the U.S Dollar and long the Canadian Dollar and is intended to minimize the impact of changes in the Canadian/U.S. dollar exchange rate on the four underlying ETFs' performance.

The combined performance of the option positions is dependent, in large part, on a) the performance of SPY, b) the change in the amount of time remaining to the options expiration date (annual reset date), and c) changes in the market's view on future volatility of SPY. We estimate that for the reporting period, the impact of holding the options on the First Trust ETF performance was approximately 15.71%.

The cost (or benefit) to the First Trust ETF due to the currency forwards is dependent, in part, on the interest rate differences between the U.S. and Canada. We estimate that for the reporting period, the impact of holding the currency forwards on the First Trust ETF performance was approximately -0.72%.

Management Report of Fund Performance

For the year ended December 31, 2024

Finally, we estimate that for the reporting period, the impact of expenses and taxes (HST) on the First Trust ETF performance was approximately -1.13%.

Recent Developments

The First Trust ETF performance is dependent on the performances of the four underlying ETFs held by the First Trust ETF, which are, in turn, dependent on the price performance of SPY, as well as the performance of the currency forward positions, which are based on interest rate differentials between the U.S. and Canada.

For the year ended December 31, 2024, U.S. stock markets rose sharply, with large cap tech companies leading the way.

The S&P 500® Index, the well-known measure of U.S. large-cap stocks, ended the year up 25.0%. Mid-and small capitalization stocks, as measured by the S&P MidCap 400® Index and the Russell 2000® Index, rose 13.9% and 11.5%, respectively. The Nasdaq-100® Index, a tech-heavy market measure, rose 25.9% over the year. Non-U.S. stock markets had positive, but much lower returns: MSCI EAFE (a broad measure of stocks in developed markets, excluding the U.S.) only rose by 3.8%, while the MSCI Emerging Markets Index only rose 4.4% over the year.

U.S. economic data showed a picture of a solid, stable economy. For the first three quarters of 2024, U.S. gross domestic product (“GDP”) growth rates (seasonally adjusted, annualized rate) came in at 1.6%, 3.0%, and 3.1%, sequentially. A Bloomberg survey of economists shows a consensus projection of 2.1% GDP growth in 2025.

Unemployment in the U.S. remains near 50-year record lows. However, throughout the current year, the unemployment rate edged higher. The rate was 3.7% in December 2023 and had increased to 4.1% by December 2024.

U.S. inflation levels continued to decline in 2024. As the year began, inflation (as measured by the Consumer Price Index (CPI - Year over Year) was running at 3.4% (year-over-year), but as of the most recent monthly report (for November 2024) had declined to 2.7%.

After aggressively hiking short-term interest rates in 2022 and continuing with additional increases in 2023, the Fed's Open Market Committee, in response to lower inflation and higher unemployment, reversed direction and began cutting the Fed Funds Target Rate in September. By year end they had cut the rate by a total of one full point, bringing the target range down to 4.25-4.5%.

Non-cash distributions are reinvested in additional units of the First Trust ETF and subsequently consolidated. Neither the number of units held by the unitholder, nor the net asset per unit of the First Trust ETF change as a result of any non-cash distributions.

Ratios and Supplemental Data

(1) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses (excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period/year, including the First Trust ETF's proportionate share of the MER of any First Trust Vest Funds in which the First Trust ETF has invested, and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period/year.

(2) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period/year. This includes the First Trust ETF's proportionate share of the commissions of any First Trust Vest Funds in which the First Trust ETF has invested.

(3) The First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the First Trust ETF's portfolio advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the First Trust ETF buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period/year. The higher a First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate in a period/year, the greater the trading cost payable by the First Trust ETF in the period/year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period/year. There is not necessarily a relationship between high turnover rate and the performance of a First Trust ETF.
