Investment Objective and Strategy

The fundamental investment objective of First Trust Value Line® Dividend Index ETF (CAD-Hedged) (the “First Trust ETF”) is to replicate, to the extent possible, the performance of the Value Line® Dividend Index (the “Index”) on a currency hedged basis, net of expenses. The Index is a modified equal-dollar weighted index comprised of U.S. exchange-listed securities of companies that pay above-average dividends and have the potential for capital appreciation. Securities are selected for inclusion in the Index by using Value Line’s Safety™ Ranking System which ranks a stock’s price stability based on standard deviation and its financial condition based on several measures of financial performance.

The investment strategy of the First Trust ETF is to invest in and hold a proportionate share of the constituent securities of the Index, or other securities, to seek to replicate the performance of such Index. The First Trust ETF may also hold cash and cash equivalents or other money market instruments to fund current liabilities.

FT Portfolios Canada Co. (the “Manager”) may use a sampling methodology in selecting investments for the First Trust ETF. As an alternative or in conjunction with investing in and holding constituent securities, the First Trust ETF may also invest in other securities to obtain exposure to the constituent securities of the Index in a manner that is consistent with the investment objective and investment strategy of the First Trust ETF. The First Trust ETF may also obtain exposure to the Index by holding securities of a US-listed index ETF of an affiliate of the Manager, First Trust Value Line® Dividend Index Fund, which replicates or substantially replicates the performance of the Index.

The Index begins with the universe of U.S. stocks, excluding all registered investment companies, limited partnerships and foreign securities not listed in the U.S., that Value Line® gives a Safety™ Ranking of #1 or #2 using the Value Line® Safety™ Ranking System. The Safety™ ranking measures the total risk of a stock relative to the other stocks in the Value Line universe. From those stocks, Value Line® selects those companies with a higher-than-average dividend yield, as compared to the indicated dividend yield of the Standard & Poor’s 500 Composite Stock Price Index. Value Line® then eliminates those companies with an equity market capitalization of less than US $1 billion. The Index is equally weighted and rebalanced on a monthly basis.

Risk

The Index the First Trust ETF tracks utilizes a rules-based stock selection process and can result in sector weightings that differ from the primary and secondary benchmarks, S&P 500® Index (CAD-Hedged) total return and Dow Jones U.S. Select Dividend Index Return (USD), respectively. The ability of the underlying securities to pay a dividend in the future is dependent on factors that are not controlled by fund management. A security held in the First Trust ETF may, at any time, decide to cut or eliminate its dividend payment. Given the First Trust ETF employs a currency hedging strategy to minimize the impact of changes in the USD-CAD exchange rate and considering that the portfolio remains consistent in its application of the Value Line® stock selection methodology to pick stocks for the portfolio, we conclude there was no material change to the risk profile of the First Trust ETF. Investors should refer to the most recent prospectus as it contains detailed discussion of risk relating to the investment of the First Trust ETF.

Management Report of Fund Performance

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2024

Investment Performance

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2024, the First Trust ETF returned 1.22% compared to the primary and secondary benchmarks' total returns of 14.99% and 5.03% respectively. Unlike the benchmarks, the First Trust ETF's returns are net of fees and expenses.

The First Trust ETF underperformed the primary benchmark during the period. Technology stocks in the portfolio were underweight and led to negative relative returns as the Technology sector was the top performing sector in the first half of 2024. Utilities and Industrials were also overweight versus the benchmark causing relative underperformance during the period. Selection in the two respective sectors also detracted from relative performance against the primary benchmark. Selection in Energy companies added to relative performance as the portfolio's holdings outperformed the benchmark holdings. Rate sensitive Real Estate was the worst performing group in the benchmark for the period. The First Trust ETF was able to mitigate some of the downside by remaining underweight duration the period while the selection effect was slightly negative.

The top five stocks by contribution to return were Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Co., Ltd. Sponsored ADR, DT Midstream, Inc., Garmin Ltd., NextEra Energy, Inc., and Juniper Networks, Inc. The bottom five stocks by contribution to return were Robert Half Inc., Archer-Daniels-Midland Company, Middlesex Water Company, Brown-Forman Corporation Class B and, NIKE, Inc. Class B.

The portfolio held 162 equity securities on December 31, 2023, and 203 equity securities on June 30, 2024. The top ten equity holdings accounted for 5.13% of the total NAV. Utilities, Industrials, and Consumer Staples were the top three sector weightings at the beginning of the year. On June 30, 2024, the top three sector weights were Industrials, Utilities, and Consumer Staples. Relative to the benchmark, the most overweight sectors at the end of the period were Utilities, Consumer Staples, and Industrials. The most underweight sectors versus the benchmark at the end of the period were Information technology, Communication Services, and Consumer Discretionary. At the beginning of the year, the most overweight sectors were Utilities, Industrials, and Consumer Staples. The most underweight sectors at the beginning of the year were Information Technology, Communication Services, and Consumer Discretionary. The First Trust ETF maintains a focus on large-cap dividend-paying equities.

During the period, the currency hedge was not beneficial to the First Trust ETF as the U.S. dollar appreciated versus the Canadian dollar.

Recent Developments

Large-cap stocks, particularly mega-caps, have fueled the S&P 500® Index's impressive performance so far in 2024. The top five holdings by market capitalization have delivered a whopping 55% average return, contributing more than half of the index's overall gains. The Federal Reserve is closely monitoring inflation and employment data to determine the need for interest rate cuts in the second half of the year. June's encouraging inflation report could embolden the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) to act, with a September cut being the most likely scenario. On the factor front, dividend yield and low volatility strategies significantly underperformed in the first half. The First Trust ETF, which tracks the Value Line® Dividend Index, is directly exposed to these lagging factors.

(1) Management expense ratio is based on total expenses for the stated period/year and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period/year.

(2) The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period/year.

(3) The First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the First Trust ETF's Portfolio Advisor manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the First Trust ETF buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period/year. The higher a First Trust ETF's portfolio turnover rate in a period/year, the greater the trading cost payable by the First Trust ETF in the period/year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period/year. There is not necessarily a relationship between high turnover rate and the performance of a First Trust ETF.
